

30 October 2024

Read the latest issue of PCS People

Our members' magazine focuses on our campaign to reinstate the sacked HMRC reps and also on our anti-racist and anti-fascist work.

You can read the issue online now.

Our lead story on our campaign against the sacking of three reps at HMRC Benton Park View explains the background to their sacking, and how the campaign is progressing and gaining support - and importantly, what you can do to help.

Read the latest columns by our general secretary Fran Heathcote and our president Martin Cavanagh - Fran writes about the upcoming Autumn Budget and our stance on the Winter Fuel Payment while Martin looks at some of the media coverage that PCS has been gaining.

There is a two-page spread on how PCS is fighting against racism and fascism - read page one on the website and find the second page in the main magazine.

There is an article on our attitude to the growing use of Artificial Intelligence \(AI\) in the workplace.

There are lots of other interesting and informative articles inside, including:

- A section on legal wins including how a DfE member won a tribunal claim involving hidden disabilities and details of a payout for a Defra member told 'no vacancies' after maternity leave.
- Updates on campaigns by PCS members in different employers for better pay, terms and conditions and against forced returns to offices.
- A Me and My Job interview with Matt Pike, a visitor assistant for English Heritage at Stonehenge.

Got a story for our next issue?

Why not share your experiences, achievements and comments on how the union has helped you?

To contribute, share ideas for articles, submit letters or comment on the magazine email editor@pcs.org.uk. We hope you enjoy the issue and that the magazine inspires you to get involved in your union.